

A light gray hourglass-shaped diagram representing the structure of a research paper. The hourglass is composed of four sections: a wide top triangle, a narrow central rectangle, and a wide bottom triangle. The sections are labeled from top to bottom: Introduction, Methods, Results, and Discussion. The text is centered within each section.

Introduction

Methods

Results

Discussion